Here at Chapelhouse, we love giving our customers great deals, so if you are looking to change your car, we are offering a simple, catch free way to do so, without leaving you out of pocket.

Our Car Swap event runs right across the Chapelhouse group, meaning you have a range of over 700 new, nearly new and quality used vehicles to choose from. Many of our cars also come with a host of added extras as standard, including our fantastic 'free MOT test for life' offer.

The process is simple, just take your car down to Chapelhouse, and enjoy a hot drink on us, while one of our friendly salesmen works out the best possible price we can give you for your car. Once we've worked this out, you can take a look around the site and pick the car you'd like to take home. Each car will be reduced and priced to sell, so simply deduct the price of your car from the price of your new car, and that's all you have to pay. That means there's every chance you will walk away with a new car for nothing!

To make a great deal even better, just £50 will secure any vehicle you like. No other dealer can boast an offer this good, so make sure you take a trip down to Chapelhouse during this Car Swap event and get yourself a new car from as little as £0!

More than 300 hospital staff have been attacked by patients in the past five years according to shocking new figures released by the NHS.

Bosses at St Helens and Knowsley Hospitals NHS Trust have said they have a zero tolerance policy to any violence towards staff and union chiefs have urged all workers to report any incidents in which they feel threatened.

Figures released by the NHS reveal that there were 330 assaults on staff at the trust between 2009-2014.

Last year there were 73 incidents reported - down from 87 the previous year (2012/13).

A trust spokeswoman said: "The trust operates a zero tolerance approach to violence and abuse of staff and has a close working partnership with Merseyside Police.

"The trust has a 'red card system' along with a number of other security initiatives and actively encourages all our staff to report any incidents immediately."

Number of convicted working in schools

By Andy Moffatt
andy.moffatt@jpress.co.uk
@AndyMoffatt1

Fifteen people with criminal convictions have applied for jobs working at schools in St Helens over the past three years, official figures show.

Council chiefs have robust policies for assessing workers with convictions

Educations chiefs say strict checks are carried out before allowing anyone with a criminal record to work in the borough's schools.

Six people with convictions on their record were offered a position and took up a role in schools.

Of the 15 applicants, all bar one were applying for non-teaching positions.

Teachers are barred from working in classrooms if they are found guilty of a range of offences including sexual offences, violent crimes, drug charges, crimes of dishonesty or any offence relating to children.

A council spokesman said stringent checks were undertaken by officials before employing anyone to work in the town's schools.

The spokesman added: "If an individual is successful in their application for a post requiring disclosure, they are required to authorise the council to apply for disclosure of information from the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS).

"The DBS is a central government agency which provides information on criminal records, and people banned from regulated activity with vulnerable groups, including children.

"As part of the agreement with the DBS, the council conforms to the codes of practice it publishes regarding disclosure. "

"The council does not hold a list of convictions that automatically bar applicants from job roles however the DBS carries out a barred list check on eligible positions."

Band signs up to support The Who

BY ANDREW NOWELL
andrew.nowell@jpress.co.uk
@ANowellWIG

A local band will realise a dream when they play for thousands of music fans supporting rock's original pinball wizards next month.

The Slydigs

Four-piece Slydigs, whose bassist Ben Breslin and drummer Peter Fleming are from Newton-le-Willows, have been picked as the support act for rock legends The Who on five arena dates across the country in December.

The band, whose line-up is completed by singer and rhythm guitarist Dean Fairhurst from Burtonwood and lead guitarist and backing vocalist Louis Menguy from Lowton, will open for Roger Daltrey, Pete Townshend and company at giant venues in Liverpool, Manchester, Cardiff and London.

The gigs supporting The Who, best knows for hits such as My Generation and ambitious rock opera Tommy, will be by far the biggest Slydigs have ever played and the group has been enjoying considerable acclaim since announcing the support slot, including regional television appearances and hundreds of complimentary messages from excited fans on social media.

Peter said: "It's a dream come true to be sharing the stage with rock n roll royalty of this calibre and an honour to warm up the crowd."

Slydigs will join The Who Hits 50 UK tour on December 11 at Liverpool's Echo Arena before appearances at the Phones 4U Arena in Manchester, Cardiff's Motorpoint Arena and two days at the O2 Arena in London.

The band has drawn considerable acclaim for its brand of uptempo music blending indie, blues and rock 'n' roll which has drawn comparisons to the likes of Oasis and early Arctic Monkeys and can be heard on their single Stiff Upper Lip and five-track EP Down With The Mockery.

Guitarist and vocalist Dean says that playing on the same bill as such a legendary act has also fuelled their own ambitions as musicians.

He said: "Since Inception we have viewed The Who with such high regard that to now be supporting them is simply a dream come true.

"Now we must step up to the plate to play in the big league and we are aiming for the top.

"Not only has their music influenced us throughout our lives but their success is something that we aspire to achieve."

Fans heading to see them on the arena tour can also enjoy hearing Slydigs' songs in a very different setting as the four-piece will warm up for their jaunt with The Who with an intimate show at The Ruby Lounge in Manchester on December 12.

For more information about the band visit www.slydigs.co.uk or search for them on Twitter and Facebook.

Community church open for business

By Andrew Nowell
andrew.nowell@jpress.co.uk
@ANowellWIG

A church and community venue is hoping to maintain its position at the heart of the community after opening its new extension.

Former Everton footballer Duncan McKenzie cut the ribbon to unveil the new orangery at Downall Green and Garswood Independent Methodist (IM) Church.

The opening represents the culmination of a decade of hard work for the congregation and local community, which raised around £20,000 to make the orangery a reality as well as receiving a £50,000 grant from waste company Biffa.

The venue, built on to the side of the church, contains a coffee bar which will allow residents to enjoy refreshments after services as well as sample sandwiches and cakes during the week.

Ex-Everton ace Duncan McKenzie cuts the ribbon with mayor Geoff Pearl

The orangery will also become home to some of the many community groups which use Downall Green and Garswood IM as a base, including Knit and Natter, a card-making class, a book club and an organisation run by the local authority which repairs bicycles.

Melvin Riding, church president and chair of charity Action and Resources in the Community (Arc), which runs the venue's community operations, said: "It's a huge weight off our minds and it's absolutely magnificent to see it open, it's been a long time.

"It's quite light and airy and it's warm with comfortable seats. Everyone's very happy with it.

"We raised about £10,000 towards the cost of the building then raised another £10,000 ourselves to fit it out, with grants from several other church and charities."

Picture perfect results for amateur photographer Ian

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

A tutor at St Helens College has seen his photographs of Liverpool's famous Giants puppets picked for inclusion in a special book.

Theatre and performance tutor Ian Greenall, from Eccleston, was one of a million visitors invited to submit their photos of the Giants' return to Liverpool earlier this year.

The photography enthusiast's efforts have since been chosen to feature in the new book On The Shoulders Of Giants, which was launched at St George's Hall last week.

Ian, 41, was one of 21 amateur photographers whose work was chosen to feature alongside the compositions of professional photographers commissioned to photograph the highly-anticipated event.

It marked a double success for Ian too, as he also wowed judges in a nature and wildlife photography competition organised by Wild Arena.

More than 1,100 photos were submitted from across the country, but it was Ian who was chosen as the winner in the best picture category.

He said: "In my job, creativity is key and in my spare time, I have a real passion for photography as I believe photographs are such a powerful communication tool.

"I'm very proud to be representing St Helens through the selection of my photographs. It has been excellent for my work to be recognised in two top competitions."

LIGHTING UP

Brave Harrison set for festive lights switch on

■ A 12-year-old cancer sufferer from Haydock will switch on the town's Christmas lights. Harrison Ledsham will be the guest of honour at the ceremony, which will take place outside Haydock Library on Church Road, starting at 6pm. The youngster was diagnosed with bone cancer earlier this year and had his left leg amputated in the summer after surgeons decided his treatment had not been effective enough.

■ Harrison is continuing to make good progress with his treatment and is set to get a high quality prosthetic leg which he hopes will allow him to continue participating in sport.

■ The lights switch on has been organised by Haydock ward councillors Anthony Burns, Bill Anderson and Jeanette Banks and is sponsored by Haydock library and local churches and schools.

■ Coun Burns said: "We are also really proud to have Harrison Ledsham as our VIP to switch on the lights this year. His story is one of tremendous strength and courage. He truly is an inspiration."

Fitzpatrick appointed schools commissioner

By Natalie Walker
natalie.walker1@jpress.co.uk
@NWalkerWIG

This is the man charged with transforming St Helens' schools.

Phil Fitzpatrick has been appointed as the town's first-ever schools commissioner.

He will also act as chairman in the St Helens School Improvement Board, which will regularly and robustly hold schools to account for their performance.

Council leader Barrie Grunewald said: "When I became Leader of St Helens Council I outlined my commitment to ensuring that improving educational outcomes for the children and young people in our borough were paramount.

"That work started with the establishment of an education task force and Phil's appointment is building on that work and is a clear signal that we are determined to see standards rise further in our schools.

Phil Fitzpatrick

"The results of our primary schools are amongst the best in the country. While our GCSE results remain stable, in a year that witnessed falls in other local authorities, there is still much more to do in our secondary schools.

"Phil has a track record in the secondary sector for delivering rapid improvement in education, experience that we will harness to help schools in all phases to do even better."

His work in school improvement includes recent headship at Birkdale High School in Sefton, which was placed in special measures by Ofsted in 2011.

Mr Fitzpatrick was subsequently appointed by the Department for Education to take the school out of that category of concern and it was upgraded to good by Ofsted in November 2013.

He has also turned around other schools including the Blessed Edward Jones Catholic High in Wales, St Benedict's College and New Heys, and Parklands High, Wythenshaw - improving exam results at each school.

The 66-year-old said: "My key strengths are problem solving, identifying and initiating positive developments and putting every child at the centre of the educational processes. I am delighted to have been appointed as commissioner and I look forward to working with all concerned to bring about sustained improvements."

School celebrates inspection success

Staff and students at a St Helens special school have cause for celebration this week having received top marks in a recent inspection.

Fresh from its official opening earlier this month, Mill Green School in Parr has been classed as outstanding in all areas by education watchdog Ofsted.

Built on the site of the former Parr High School, Mill Green is the first school of its kind to have been established using a new Government funding scheme.

Inspectors said the new school ticked all the right boxes and singled out headteacher Colin Myers for praise.

Mr Myers said: "This has most certainly been the most exciting and action packed term ever experienced at Mill Green School.

Within eight weeks we have moved into a brand new school building as well as having an inspection.

"We are so pleased with our continued outstanding judgement. It simply confirms what we already knew, regarding the immense commitment and hard work that can be seen on a daily basis from all pupils, staff and Governors alike.

"We are all very proud of our success and look forward to a very exciting future."

The school caters for children and young adults aged up to 19 and currently has 83 students. Pupils have a range of learning needs including severe and profound learning difficulties.

It scored the top outstanding mark in all areas – leadership and management, behaviour and safety of pupils, quality of teaching, achievement of pupils and sixth form provision. The report is the school's second consecutive outstanding rating.

Lead Inspector Drew Crawshaw said "The headteacher is the linchpin in the success of this school. He is highly ambitious and his vision is the driving force behind the continue exceptional achievement of those students who are fortunate enough to attend the school."

OAP was molested by care home worker

By Natalie Walker
natalie.walker@jpress.co.uk
@NWalkerWIG

A Haydock care home worker who sneaked into the room of an elderly resident with dementia in order to sexually molest her has been jailed.

Derek Rigby

A court heard that 44-year-old Derek Rigby repeatedly took advantage of the woman, who was in her eighties and had suffered a series of mini strokes.

Her daughter became suspicious and placed a hidden "nanny cam" in the room and caught him in the act.

Michael Stephenson, prosecuting, told Liverpool Crown Court how suspicions were raised when the victim told her daughter that a male member of staff was undressing her at night and coming into her room for a "kiss and a cuddle." When Rigby came in to give her some medicine she identified him as the culprit.

Once the hidden camera was in place it was only two nights before it caught him removing the woman's bra and molesting her. He also encouraged her to perform an indecent act on him.

The court heard that the victim had a severe change in her personality following a series of strokes and she had become "disinhibited".

Rigby, a father-of-two, had noticed this and even reported it to staff at Colliers Court, in Haydock, but despite this began his campaign of abuse.

Rigby, of Hawkley Hall, pleaded guilty to four charges of engaging in sexual activity with a person with a mental disorder between December 2013 and June this year. One specific incident which was recorded and shown to the judge.

Judge Andrew Menary, QC, said: "Anyone who sees your actions on that night will be shocked and horrified at the gross breach of trust by you toward this vulnerable person.

"People, who have relatives in care are entitled to expect that their loved ones will be looked after and cared for appropriately and not subject to systematic sexual abuse at the hands of someone in a senior position."

He jailed Rigby for 30 months, ordered him to sign on the Sex Offenders' Register for life and banned him from working with vulnerable adults and children.

Joseph Kotrie-Monson, defending, said Rigby was suffering from stress and exhaustion at the time and otherwise had an excellent and unblemished record from his six years working in the care industry.

He added that his life was "in tatters" but his friends and wife were standing by him.

St Helens men on cops 10 most wanted list

Two men from St Helens have named on Merseyside Police's 10 most wanted list.

James Woods, 19, and 25-year-old Warren Hamid's mugshots will feature in witness appeals on giant video screens at shopping centre across the region.

Woods is wanted for failing to answer bail, while Hamid is being sought for questioning in connection with a stolen scrambler bike which was used to cause danger to other road users.

The appeal is part of a festive campaign launched by police to track down people suspected of acquisitive crime, including shoplifters and fraudsters.

Police raided a string of addresses - including one in St Helens - where they suspected some of the region's most prolific offenders lived, although no addresses were made in the borough.

Chief Insp Jenny Sims said: "The eye-catching campaign was designed to encourage information from the public.

"Today's operation is about sending a clear message to the public that Merseyside Police will not tolerate offences like business robbery and thefts in the run-up to Christmas.

"These are not victimless crimes. Every offence committed leaves a lasting impact on the victim."

A Haydock man who went missing from his home has been found dead, police have confirmed.

Christopher Muldoon was last seen on Wednesday by his partner.

Police made a public appeal for help to find the 40-year-old on Friday evening.

But his body was discovered on Saturday afternoon by a passer-by on a footpath on open ground in Cooper Lane, Haydock.

A cause of death is yet to be established but police say there are no suspicious circumstances.

Mr Muldoon, of Mount Pleasant Avenue, Haydock, was last seen alive at around 11.15pm on Wednesday.

A police spokesman said Mr Muldoon's next of kin had been informed and detectives were now preparing a file to be passed to St Helens' coroner.

Cost of weight-loss surgery revealed

By Andy Edgeworth
andrew.edgeworth@jpress.co.uk
@AEdgeworthWIG

More than 30 obese patients were referred for weight-loss surgery last year at an estimated cost of £225,000 to taxpayers.

Weight loss surgery cost the local NHS almost a quarter of a million pounds

Figures recorded by the Health and Social Care Information Centre (HSCIC) show that 33 people were referred for surgery in St Helens 2012/13 - the second highest number per person in the North West with only Blackpool seeing higher numbers.

Depending on the complexity of the procedure and the care required after surgery, NHS England says bariatric surgery costs can vary between £3,000 and £11,505.

Gastric band surgery is cheaper than gastric bypass surgery, which is a more complicated and risky operation.

Guidelines recommend that bariatric surgery be offered to the morbidly obese and those who are not quite morbidly obese but already have other problems, such as heart disease and high blood pressure.

Although no surgery is carried out in the borough, St Helens NHS services still foot the bill.

There are no figures available as to how many patients have been referred during 2013/14.

The news comes as it was revealed by the National Bariatric Surgery Registry that nearly 40 per cent of under-25s who have weight-loss surgery in the UK are classified as super-obese.

Surgeons say this is evidence of "a clear failure of strategies to prevent weight gain in young people".

Overall, more patients are having weight-loss surgery and, on average, they are getting more obese and more ill by the time of surgery.

A leading bariatric surgeon said severe obesity threatens to bankrupt the NHS.

There were more than 18,000 weight-loss operations in 137 UK hospitals between 2010 and 2013.

Attacks

reported assaults has risen by 191, from 1,458 to 1,649 – a rise of 13.1 per cent.

Overall, there was a rise of 8.7 per cent in total reported assaults from 63,199 in 2012/13 to 68,683 in 2013/14.

Christina McAnea, head of health at Unison, said: "There can be no excuse for abusing or assaulting staff and all incidents should be taken very seriously. Sadly, violence on NHS premises often goes unreported and many workers are left to suffer in silence.

"Both employers and the police need to take these incidents seriously particularly in mental health premises where we expect full support and cooperation to guarantee the safety and security of staff."

Nationally, it is feared increasing waiting times and fewer frontline staff in emergency departments at hospitals are causing more assaults.

Richard Hampton, Head of External Engagement and Services at NHS Protect, said: "No NHS staff should be physically assaulted and we encourage staff who are victims of violence to press charges against assailants."

Meet the dog smiles ahead of the pack

By Chris Amery

@ChrisAmeryWIG

A kind-hearted dog who provides scores of smiles for St Helens schoolchildren is up for a national award.

Pat Dog finalists Christine Hughes and Chief the dog

Nine-year-old border collie Chief, a Pets As Therapy (PAT) dog, has been named one of six finalists in the HiLife PAT dog of the year competition.

The winner will be announced at Crufts on next March.

But he's not letting his bid to be top dog get in the way of his day job and has been busy continuing his school visits.

His owner, Christine Hughes, of Ravenhead, said: "I'm absolutely delighted about Chief being nominated as a finalist. Words aren't enough to describe how very proud I am of him.

"Chief and I regularly visit Eccleston Mere and St James Primary Schools. He brings a lot of pleasure to a lot of children who love his visits. He's a calming influence and comforts them if they're upset.

"We even think he knows the secrets they tell him!"

Pets As Therapy is an independently funded charity with more than 5,000 volunteers. Their registered PAT dogs provide animal assisted therapy and bring comfort, smiles and friendship to thousands of people every week.

At Crufts, Chief and the other five finalists will proudly parade around the show arena as details of their achievements are announced to the audience. The winner will receive £500.

Neighbourly love
35 years ago

Student nurse Linda Quilliam was due to get married - to the boy next door.
Linda, 19, of 32 Knowsley View, Rainford, was set to tie the knot with 31-year-old Peter Southern - who proposed after less than two months.
Peter moved into number 34 in April and proposed in July.
Linda said: "Despite all the jokes about in-laws Peter doesn't mind living next door to his. It seems no time since we met but we knew we wanted to get married almost as soon as we started going out."
Linda's mother, Thelma, admitted it was "a bit of a surprise".

Goodbye to RL
40 years ago

Former Saints general manager Basil Lowe quit rugby league for good following his second shock resignation in three months.
After just seven weeks at York he left Wigginton Road - and the game.
In August he had resigned after 24 years as secretary and general manager at St Helens.
Ruth Baker, his secretary at Knowsley Road, went with him to York. It was not known whether she would be staying on.
Mr Lowe told of the strain that his daily 200-mile round trips to York from his Eccleston home had made.

Dog lover hit by car
45 years ago

A dog lover was struck by a car when she stopped to comfort a dying dog on Higher Lane in Rainford.
Patricia Smith got out of her car and directed a bus past the stricken animal before being struck by a car.
She was taken to Providence Hospital and ended up needing 30 stitches in head wounds as well as treatment for shock and leg injuries.
Her husband Ronald told how she had left their Heyes Avenue home at 8am.
"After waving the bus past Pat remembered nothing more until she came round in a house," he said.

Post war Saints programme

It's tatty and almost 70 years old, but this vintage Saints programme dates from the game against Rochdale Hornets on Saturday, October 13, 1945 - just weeks after the last post sounded on the Second World War. The club managed to scrape together 13 jerseys, and that proved a lucky omen as Saints won 21-9 through tries by Riley (2), Cheetham, Gregory and Powell, who also kicked three goals.

Memories of Knowsley Road

This fantastic old aerial photo shows Saints' former Knowsley Road ground. Knowsley Road was, of course, steeped in rugby league history and folklore. It remained Saints home stadium until 2010 and was demolished the following year. After a season "on the road" at Widnes, Saints moved into their new Langtree Park home, which has gone on to be hailed as one of the finest stadiums in world rugby.

Saints carol service remembering truce

By Andy Moffatt
andy.moffatt@jpress.co.uk
@AndyMoffatt1

Saints are to host a Christmas carol service with a difference marking the 100th anniversary of the First World War.

The festive event is part of a series of landmark services being held across the region to mark the 100th anniversary of the Christmas Day truce held between English and German soldiers.

Staged at Langtree Park, the service will be led by Saints chaplain Paul Johnson with music from the St Helens Youth Band.

A 500-strong choir composed of local school children will provide musical accompaniment.

Stadia across Britain will be hosting similar events marking the 1914 Christmas Truce when battle-hardened troops laid down their weapons over the festive period in an unofficial laying down of arms.

English and German soldiers during the famous Christmas Day truce

On December 25 itself many soldiers on the Western Front left their trenches and gathered in no man's land where they exchanged festive greetings and cards with the enemy. In some place games of football were played between opposing troops.

The St Helens commemoration service has been organised by the arts organisation Heart of Glass, St Helens Music Service and Saints.

Mr Johnson said: "We have set ticket prices at the lowest possible level to keep the event affordable, but also financially viable."

Tickets are £3 each, with a family ticket of £8 Doors open at Langtree Park at 5.45pm on Wednesday, December 10, with singing starting at 6.30pm.

Tickets are now available from www.saintssuperstore.com or the ticket office.

Dangerous drugs stolen from car

A quantity of medication stolen from a car in St Helens could be "extremely harmful" if taken by someone who was not prescribed them by a doctor, police are warning.

The prescribed drugs were taken from the boot of a car parked on Cooper Street in Queens Park at around 5pm on Wednesday along with groceries and toys.

A spokeswoman for Merseyside Police said: "The drugs taken could be extremely harmful if taken when not prescribed to someone.

"Police advise those that have taken it to hand them in to their nearest pharmacy."

Pensioner was found dead after house fire

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

A pensioner was found dead after emergency crews were called to a ferocious house fire in St Helens.

Crews were called to a property on Samuel Street – which had no smoke alarms – shortly before 11.30pm last Friday (November 21).

Tragically, the body of an 88-year-old man was found inside. An inquest into the man's death is now set to be held to establish the exact cause of death.

An investigation into the cause of the fire is continuing but at this stage it is suspected to be accidental.

The blaze caused severe fire damage to the lounge of the property.

District manager Chris Case said: "Crews were quickly on scene. Firefighters wearing breathing apparatus entered the property and the body of an elderly man was discovered inside.

"Next door neighbours could smell smoke and contacted the fire service. Firefighters then discovered the fire next door to the neighbour's property."

He added: "This fire started in a property which had no working smoke alarms. Smoke alarms can give vital early warning of a fire. We urge people to have working smoke alarms on each level of their home.

"If people have elderly relatives you can request a Home Fire Safety Check, where fire safety advice is given, by calling 0800 7315958."

Firefighters from St Helens, Eccleston and Whiston were all called to the scene, along with the fire service's incident management team.

Friends join park run in memory of James

Friends and family of a young St Helens man who died of an undiagnosed heart defect are set to take on a Park Run in his memory this weekend.

James Nicholas's dad, Kevin, and several of the 21-year-old's friends are set to complete the Victoria Park run this Saturday as part of Cardiac Risk in the Young (CRY) awareness week.

They are all set to raise money for the charity in memory of the ex-Carmel College student – who was also known as Ron – who collapsed and died at his Rivington Road home in October 2012, just four days short of his 22nd birthday.

Dad Kevin said: "We are trying to raise awareness of Cardiac Risk in the Young. At least 12 people die of this condition every week and we think the government should bring in testing for people aged 14-35.

"We have also managed to raise enough funds to pay for testing to be done in James's memory at Carmel College on March 27, 2015.

"Hopefully it will be the start of many more tests around St Helens."

He added: "James was apparently fit and healthy when he collapsed and died. Doctors think he may have had the long QT syndrome heart condition.

"He had earned a degree in finance and accountancy from Liverpool John Moores University. It's such a shame he didn't get the chance to use it."

Earlier this year, 19 teachers and five students - including James's little sister, Caitlin - took on the daunting 128-mile Leeds to Liverpool bike ride in James' memory.

A memorial fund has now been set up in James's memory - with every penny going towards funding heart testing in the local area.

Arrival of giant penguins marks start of Chrsitmas

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

Suited and booted giant penguins added a seasonal feel to the town's Church Square shopping area as they greeted families starting their Christmas shopping.

And a festive brass band soundtrack helped to keep those happy feet tapping as dozens of youngsters came to take a beak at the feathery festivities.

The event – which took place on the same day that Tyrers opened its Christmas grotto - was just one of the festive attractions being staged by St Helens Council during the run-up to Christmas.

Upcoming events include the arrival of Thomas the Tank Engine, a Santa Dash and the arrival of real reindeer.

Council to charge for bulky waste collection

Cash-strapped St Helens Council is to start charging residents for the collection of bulky waste items in a bid to help balance the books.

As government cuts continue to bite into public services, the collection of bulky items such as bathroom suites, sheds, fence panels, sofas, beds and mattresses will be charged for from Monday (December 1).

However, the majority of collections will remain FREE of charge - items such as fridges freezers, washing machines and standard items such as small appliances, vacuum cleaners, ironing boards, old toys and small wooden furniture items.

The new £25 charge is per appointment for up to three items.

The new pricing structure is aimed at helping the council to meet the cost of providing the service - as well as contributing towards the financial savings that need to be made in order to achieve a balanced budget.

Coun Seve Gomez-Aspron said: "These items make up a small percentage of the overall number of bulky waste collections but require a disproportionate amount of resources to collect and dispose of.

"Residents often use this service to remove substantial amounts of material from their property to avoid the inconvenience of taking it to the Household Waste Recycling Centre or to avoid the cost of hiring a skip or vehicle to take the material.

"The majority of bulky collections are still free, however."

Aside from the bulky waste collection service, residents can also take large items to their nearest household recycling centre - where the majority of waste can be separated for recycling.

Paws for thought

BY NATALIE WALKER
natalie.walker1@jpress.co.uk
@NWalkerWIG

West End star Carley Stenson is asking people to paws for thought to raise money for an animal charity.

The Billinge singer is one of several household names to take part in the Celebrity Paws auction to highlight the work of leading feline welfare organisation, Cat's Protection.

Carley has drawn around her hand, decorated it and signed her work, which will be auctioned online on Ebay from Thursday November 20 to raise vital funds for Cats Protection.

And the former Hollyoaks actress is not the only celebrity to leave a paw print.

Cat lover Carley

Dermot O'Leary, Strictly's Flavia, Dame Judi Dench and stars from Downton Abbey and Emmerdale have also put pen to paper.

Carley, who has had lead roles in Legally Blonde and Shrek, said: "I have been connected to Cats Protection for quite a while and if anyone gets in touch with me to help out any animal or person who is less fortunate I will always try and support them.

"I thought the paw print was a really cute idea and I am so passionate about animals and so I thought if I could make a difference, I will.

"It took me no time to do and it was really fun."

The Celebrity Paws auction starts at midday on November 20 and will run for 10 days until midday on November 30.

Spokesman for Cats Protection, Louise Waters, said: "This is the eighth year we have hosted our Celebrity Paws auction. Over the years it has attracted fantastic support from famous cat lovers - from Prime Ministers and artists to award-winning actors and TV favourites, and we expect this year to be just as popular.

Carley Stenson's paw print for Cats Protection

"Each paw is signed by the celebrity and is completely authentic. As with previous years, we expect these unique artworks will really get people bidding and raise some vital funds for unwanted cats and kittens."

The auction is being run through Ebay and interested bidders are invited to log on to view the full list of paw prints at www.cats.org.uk/celebrity-paws from the day of the auction.

Rainford's Bottle & Glass is inviting you to enjoy its new look

Beloved Rainford venue the Bottle & Glass Inn, on St Helen's Road, has re-opened its doors to the public following a week-long refurbishment.

Located on the lush green outskirts of Rainford, less than ten minutes' drive from St Helen's, the Bottle & Glass is just a matter of miles from Billinge Hill, the highest point in Merseyside, as well as the village's Grade II-listed All Saints church.

The Bottle & Glass acts as a gateway to the historic village, which boasts picturesque 700-year old buildings, including the village's oldest building Mossborough Hall, built in 1300. A scenic two-mile walk away from the pub, the building's ancient moat remains intact.

The pub restaurant, which is over 190 years old, has undergone a major revamp. New flooring has been installed, with traditional, comfortable furnishings and fresh new wall art added to the venue's décor.

The end result is a warm country pub full of charm and character, a classic British pub that pays homage to its history while serving an array of timeless pub classics and a vast array of drinks.

Bottle & Glass general manager Kenny Chalmers said: "This latest renovation has completely transformed our pub, and we've been overwhelmed by positive feedback."

"We're proud to play a pivotal role in our local community, and are pleased that the refurbishment allows us to continue the Bottle and Glass' fine tradition of being a destination Rainford can be proud of."

"We've refreshed and expanded the dining area to make our dining experience even more enjoyable. It's a great place to sit back, relax and enjoy fantastic pub food."

"We're looking forward to sharing our fresh new look with returning and new guests alike over the coming weeks and months and providing them with a meal to remember in an enviable setting."

The Bottle & Glass' menu is full of pub favourites, such as a tempting Chicken, Pancetta & White Wine Pie (£9.29), a Creamy Fish Pie (£9.99) and a sumptuous Slow-cooked Pork Belly (£11.99).

The pub is also renowned for serving scrumptious Sunday lunches, including its succulent Roast Topside of Beef (£9.59), Roast Turkey Breast (£8.59) and Roast British Pork Leg (£7.99). The Bottle & Glass also offers its famous Trio of Roasts, a combination of the three aforementioned dishes served with all the trimmings.

Additionally, the Bottle & Glass serves a lunch menu between 12 and 4pm on Monday to Saturday, including favourites such as Hand-battered Fish & Chips and Lemon & Chilli Pappardelle from just £4.99, as well as a range of mouthwatering sandwiches for those looking for a lighter meal.

Open Monday to Saturday, 11.30am to 11pm, and Sunday from midday to 10pm; a warm and welcoming atmosphere awaits you at the new-look Bottle & Glass.

Freedom of London for Gary

By James Illingworth
james.illingworth@jpress.co.uk
@JIllingworthWIG

A Rainford businessman has been granted a prestigious title as part of one of the oldest traditional ceremonies still in existence.

Gary Tame was named a Freeman of the City of London this month in recognition of his charity work for causes with military links.

Once a highly privileged title, Freeman status in the modern world holds no practical benefits but is maintained as a symbolic award.

The 59-year-old was nominated for years of fund-raising efforts for the Royal British Legion, Royal Air Forces Association and Armed Forces charity SSAFA.

Mr Tame said: "It's an ancient process that dates back to the 13th century. When I heard I had been nominated I was interested because I'm a keen historian, from that point of view, I find it all very interesting."

The dad-of-one, originally from South Africa, works as a quality control engineer at Rainford-based AF Global.

Traditionally, Freeman status was granted to traders who were not tied to a feudal lord and could earn within the city.

Kristian mans up in bid to win charity's ambassador job

By Natalie Walker
natalie.walker@jpress.co.uk
@NWalkerWIG

Is this Britain's manliest man?

Kristian Austin, 22, has won a place in the top 40 of a competition to find the model with the most machismo.

The eventual winner will become an ambassador for the Orchid cancer charity and be given the brief of helping raise awareness of testicular and other male-related cancers.

Former Newton High pupil Kristian was selected for the contest, organised by male grooming firm Bluebeards Revenge, from 1,500 applicants.

He said: "I would love to be an ambassador for Orchid as it is a great cause.

"There have been a massive amount of people who have testicular cancer so it is important to raise awareness of the illness and what signs to look out for."

Kristian, from Newton, started working as a model shortly after leaving school.

He has gone on to work for brands including Debenhams, Toni & Guy and most recently featured alongside Manchester City goalkeeper Joe Hart in a television shampoo advert.

A spokesman for Bluebeards Revenge said: "The Bluebeards Revenge has teamed up with the charity for the campaign, in an urgent bid to persuade men of all ages to Man Up and Check for the early signs of testicular cancer.

"Many guys are still burying their heads in the sand with regards to this very important issue, but with an overall cure rate of 96 per cent the disease is highly treatable."

Writer Neil's switch from metal to Oscar winner

A renowned music journalist from St Helens who specialises in heavy metal biographies is turning a new page.

Neil Daniels' latest tome is the life story of Hollywood actor Matthew McConaughey.

He was inspired to write the book after watching the actor's Oscar-winning performance in Dallas Buyers Club.

"That award came after his portrayal of Aids patient Ron Woodroof," said Neil, who also works as a librarian at Sutton Academy, "a role which saw him waste away from a world-famous muscular specimen to a mere skeleton."

The book documents the actor's career highlights, including his role in the acclaimed television drama, True Detective.

Provided by Britains DNA

The Greatest Gift

The Gift of Yours and Many Lifetimes

Are you a Saxon, a Viking, or a Norman? Or are you descended from the hundreds of lineages from all over the world that are found in the DNA of the British?

All of us on these islands are immigrants, descendants both of pioneers who repopulated the North after the end of the last ice age and also much more recent arrivals.

Chromo2 is the world's most sophisticated deep ancestry DNA test. It can unlock the secrets of your past and trace fatherlines and motherlines back into the darkness of prehistory, discover the DNA of the Ice Age Refuges and the First Farmers and much else. Looking at more recent ancestry, it can tell you how British you are or whether or not you carry genes from the Mediterranean, the Baltic, Eastern Europe or much further afield. It can even tell you if you are a carrier of the red hair gene variant. And with our new Blue Eyes test, you can discover your eye colour genotype. In other words BritainsDNA can answer an age-old question - it can tell you where you come from.

Start tracing your deep ancestry with £50 off today

Teen thief caught red handed with work boots

A drunk teenager was caught red-handed just seconds after stealing a pair of work boots from the boot of a car.

Police stopped Ben Lever just moments after the boots, worth £20, were stolen from the boot of Keiran Grimes's silver Mazda on Halloween.

St Helens Magistrates' Court heard how a neighbour heard a loud creaking noise outside at about 9pm as the boot of the car was opened.

Lever, 18, was then spotted walking away from the scene.

But, moments later, a police car pulled alongside him and the men he was with all ran off.

Lever, a student, was carrying the stolen work boots in his hands.

In interview, he admitted he had downed half a bottle of vodka with his friends that evening but claimed that the stolen boots had been merely handed to him by another member of the group.that

He told how the men he was with had been drunkenly trying car doors.

A small stash of cannabis was subsequently discovered at his Dorothy Street home, in Thatto Heath, which he admitted was for his own personal use.

Lever pleaded guilty to charges of stealing from a motor vehicle and possession of cannabis on his first appearance before the courts.

Patrick Heald, defending, argued that his client deserved credit for his co-operation with police and early guilty pleas.

He told how Lever had been drinking to excess that night and was "clearly not in control of his faculties".

He added that the stolen boots had been recovered and that the stash of cannabis discovered by police was "extremely modest".

Magistrates handed Lever a six-month conditional discharge and ordered him to pay £85 towards prosecution costs and a £15 victim surcharge.

OUR COMMENT

Raising standards are a must

St Helens Council is to be applauded for its proactive stance to raise educational standards in the borough's secondary schools.

It has long been acknowledged that action is needed to tackle the glaring contrast between the achievements of the borough's primary and secondary sectors.

Put bluntly, while our primary schools produce some of the best results in the country, some of our secondaries are lagging behind.

Can it be that standards of teaching fall so dramatically in the post-11 sector or do pupils' aspirations drop once they land at 'big school'?

While it tempting to look for one single reason the real answer is likely to be far more complex, involving multiple factors.

The thankless task of solving that conundrum falls to Phil Fitzpatrick, a former headteacher with a peerless record of transforming ailing schools.

As St Helens' new school commissioner, a role common in the United States but rare on these shores, Mr Fitzpatrick will be responsible for overseeing the drive to improve standards in our schools.

There is much good work to build on. But St Helens' future prosperity is dependent on the quality of our schooling today. There can be no bigger or more important task. Mr Fitzpatrick has our unqualified support

THANK YOU

Thanks to a helpful passer by

I wish to pass on my thanks to the lady who took the time to call for an ambulance when I tripped and fell at the entrance to the Bargain Buys store car park one Tuesday last month. She then stayed with me until the ambulance arrived to take me to the hospital.

I didn't get the chance to thank her because of the speed it all happened. Fortunately everything was ok and I was discharged by midday. Thank you again and god bless.

ALCOHOL

Council must take action to help drinkers

I feel compelled to write to you regarding the article 'Binge to Death – drinking laid bare'. I am angered, dismayed and frustrated that the St Helens Council are encouraging this appalling situation to develop within our beloved St Helens. I was born here, parents and grandparents before me and have always been proud to say I am from St Helens.

Our town centre is swamped with bars, pubs and not to mention the number of small local shops in residential areas, providing more opportunities for young, vulnerable and people who are alcohol dependent, to be able access drink at all hours, (often local shops in residential areas are able to sell drink from seven in a morning until 11 at night.) There is in my opinion, an overprovision.

Anyone in a position of responsibility in St Helens licensing that doesn't take on board the wealth of evidence presented and laid bare in your report from Alcohol Concern, is failing in their duty of care and responsibilities to every citizen of St Helens; it is failing those who are endangering their own health and well being and will be a legacy that future generations of S. Helens and local councillors will have to support; it is failing those innocent residents in streets, where the local shop off licences have been granted and the ordinary passersby, who get entangled in all the negative spin offs that regularly accompany the abuse of alcohol intake.

What statistics does St Helens have on that, who is helping them? Surely this damning report should make us all sit up and take notice, especially the licensing committee who have the designated power to grant or refuse licences to sell alcohol.

Along with the residents of Charles Street I am currently objecting to the granting of an Off Licence directly opposite our Church Doors so I found your article last week very enlightening!

Property DIY

Light up your life with these bright ideas

Julia Gray offers five practical and creative tips for illuminating your home

1 Lighting should be at three levels in a room - the floor, walls and ceiling. Plan your scheme in advance - if you're having electrical work done, make sure the sockets are fitted where you want your table and floor lamps to be.

2 Lighting can be much more creative, and useful, than just an overhead light in each room. In the bedrooms, do you want wall lights over the beds for reading, or just bedside lamps? Don't forget wall lights in the bathroom, perhaps for creating a relaxing atmosphere when you're soaking in the tub, and on either side of the mirror for shaving and applying make-up. An illuminated mirror is another option. Target lighting, such as over-counter lights in kitchens, can be both practical and attractive.

3 "Consider how the room will be used and at what time of day," says Hector Finch, owner of lighting store Hector Finch (www.hectorfinch.com). "This has an influence on whether the lighting should be overhead, localised for reading, or purely for atmosphere. Lighting should be considered in relation to the use of the room and the times that good light will be most needed."

4 If you want to focus attention on a feature, light it up. This is often best achieved with a low-level lighting scheme, where walls are 'washed' with light, or where an area is accented with spotlights. Statement pieces, such as chandeliers, can be a stunning feature, but give them room to 'breathe'. "Think of lighting as a means of adding personality and atmosphere to a room and home," says Finch. "Table lamps can be beautiful objects in their own right, not just used to provide light, and shades can be chosen to echo other colours in the room."

5 In a room with a high ceiling, think carefully about the height and size of the ceiling light - a small one may look silly. Most plastic ceiling roses come with short flexes, but you can buy longer flexes so the light isn't 'stranded' too close to the ceiling. A longer flex will make it look more in proportion to the room and create more of a feature, especially with a large light fitting or shade.

Property GARDENS

See the wood and the trees

With the ground still warm, Hannah Stephenson has been leafing through tree choices to find the best types to plant in your garden

There's no better time to plant trees and conifers, particularly bare-root ones, when the plants are dormant but the soil is still warm enough for the roots to become established before spring.

So if you're planting a tree during National Tree Week, which runs from November 29 to December 7, consider firstly your situation and how much space you have.

Trees can create privacy, shade, dramatic impact, colour and fruit, as well as movement and architectural form. The height and structure of the types you choose are as important in a small garden as they are in a large one.

If you have a small space, consider choosing a narrow tree with minimal spread, which will provide height and structure. Alternatively, you may prefer one landmark spreading tree with a canopy which casts dappled shade but allows for some planting underneath. Compact 'weeping' trees, such as a weeping pear (Pyrus salicifolia) could be used as a focal point. If your space is really limited, you could plant a carefully trimmed tree in a large pot.

Excellent trees for small gardens include Amelanchier lamarckii, whose graceful branches carry copper-hued new leaves in spring along with starry, white flowers. In autumn the leaves often colour brilliantly too.

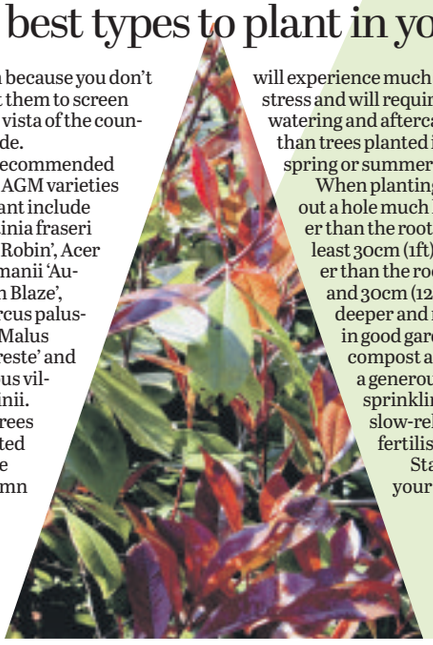
If you have room for two trees, try to combine two trees which have a different season of interest, such as a photinia - an evergreen with new red growth in late spring - and sorbus, which has lovely autumn hues and dazzling berries.

If you are looking for flowers, consider one of the crab apple varieties, such as Malus floribunda, the Japanese crab, which is adorned with blush pink and white fragrant flowers in spring and is slow growing, or the Malus 'Royal Beauty', which bears deep red-purple flowers and small dark red fruits.

Among the most suitable flowering trees for a confined space is the Prunus 'Amanogawa', an upright specimen with ascending branches which produces fragrant pink flowers in mid-spring.If you only have room for a pot, consider a Japanese maple, which will produce fantastic foliage colour, or a trimmed bay, photinia or olive tree.

Bigger gardens offer more scope to house majestic oaks, horse chestnuts and lime trees. Just be aware of their impact on your views long-term because you don't want them to screen your vista of the countryside.

Recommended RHS AGM varieties to plant include Photinia fraseri 'Red Robin', Acer freemanii 'Autumn Blaze', Quercus palustris, Malus 'Evereste' and Sorbus vilmorinii.



Trees planted in the autumn will experience much less stress and will require less watering and aftercare than trees planted in spring or summer.

When planting, dig out a hole much larger than the roots, at least 30cm (1ft) wider than the rootball and 30cm (12in) deeper and mix in good garden compost and a generous sprinkling of slow-release fertiliser.

Stake your plant using a stake as long as the distance from the bottom of the hole to just below the first branch, plus 45cm (18in). It's easier to do it if the tree is removed, then once the stake has been driven in replace the tree, teasing its roots around the stake and make sure that the tree is held away from the stake with a buffer to stop it rubbing. Larger trees can be staked using three stakes in a triangle shape in the hole about 50cm (18in) from the stem of the tree.

Add compost to the soil you are going to put back around the tree, firming it against the roots, but avoid heeling in on top of the rootball or you may damage the tree. Pile the soil around the tree to create a mound, so directing the water into the rootball.

Council leader
Barrie Grunewald

Why I'd block mayoral plan

Much as I love the BBC, something went seriously wrong with one of their stories last week on an elected Mayor for the Liverpool City Region.

The report claimed that all six of our local councils - Liverpool City, Sefton , Halton, Wirral, Knowsley and St Helens – had agreed to an elected mayor after the nearby Greater Manchester combined authority used the model to win significant devolved powers.

Nothing could have been further from the truth. And no one seems sure where the story came from. So I was only too happy to set the record straight on Granada News that same evening and in an interview with The St Helens Reporter.

The confusion seems to come from the combined authority's decision to open discussions with the government on potential governance options – and to see which one is best for the city region.

At no stage has anyone agreed to a Metro Mayor. In fact the government has now lifted that pre-condition and agreed that there doesn't have to be a 'one size fits all' solution.

So just to be clear, our position in St Helens remains unchanged. We are opposed to a Metro Mayor - yet in favour of giving more powers to the combined authority.

The idea that we can impose a new structure on people without their views being taken into account is ridiculous. Any move to impose a Metro Mayor would have to be accompanied by a referendum.

We all love a bargain. But when that bargain comes at the cost of a decent wage for the people selling those items, doesn't it take some of the shine off our new purchase?

I'm talking of course about zero hours contracts – which Labour leader Ed Milliband was quite right to highlight recently when he referred to a well-known discount sports goods retailer as a 'bad place to work'.

It's an issue I'm passionate about. Regular readers will know I'm committed to ensuring that everyone employed on such a basis here at the council will, wherever possible, see their roles become substantive – with defined and legally enforceable conditions. Over the last 12 months we've made considerable progress with this.

We will always have some people who prefer to work on a casual basis. There'll always be a need for supply teachers, relief care staff for adults and children, casual school staff, sessional sports coaches and temporary cleaning staff to cover absences and emergency situations.

'Any move to have a Metro Mayor must come with a referendum'

But we have always encouraged and supported casual staff seeking to move over to substantive roles. Many have gone on to secure permanent posts. Equally, some have opted to remain casual – preferring the flexibility of this type of work.

But out there in the private sector, people working zero hours for more unscrupulous employers – and with no guaranteed income - face huge uncertainty when it comes to paying bills and rent. The practice also prevents workers from planning for the future through pensions and savings.

Well done to Mill Green School – which has just been given an 'outstanding' Ofsted report. It scored the top mark in all areas – leadership and management, behaviour and safety of pupils, quality of teaching, achievement of pupils and sixth form provision.

I'm sorry but I'm not sorry

Andy Moffatt

@AndyMoffatt1
andy.moffatt@jpress.co.uk

If I have caused any offence then I apologise for that. That's the very modern method of apologising but not really apologising.

Hardly anyone - not politicians, celebs, sports star - just comes right out and 'fesses up: "I screwed up; I'm sorry."

Thus Dave Whelan (pictured), Wigan Athletics' chairman, set about saying sorry but not really saying sorry for racially offensive remarks.

But if you watch his apology on YouTube, he's only contrite for the offence that was taken by, in his words, "some people".

Try this tactic at home or work and see if it pays off.

Try telling your boss you're sorry they're fuming the assignment they asked you to complete by last Tuesday hasn't even been started yet and has little of no chance of seeing the light of day before Christmas.

But say that you're sorry they you feel that way, you really are. Try it in a slightly patronising tone. too. Actually, don't try that, it'll get you the sack.

On the theme of contrition, Sheffield United have finally seen sense and severed all ties with Ched Evans.

The club's co-chairman Jim Phipps says he's "angry and upset" about a public outcry caused them into a u-turn on the convicted rapist.

He also acknowledges his "principles and the board's principles are not the only thing that matter".

That's very big of him.

Phipps goes on to say Sheffield United are a community-minded, family club. But I suspect the real reason they back-tracked on Evans is far simpler.

Once club patron and Olympic gold medallist Jessica Hill-Ennis said she would demand her name be removed from a stand re-named in her honour they realised the game was up.

In the end it was a simple business equation that swung it. A tawdry end to a very tawdry tale.

Why can't politicians tell it exactly like it is these days?

Andrew Mitchell's career went down the swany after an altercation with police while David Mellor is in hot water for effing and blinding at a taxi driver.

John Simpson, the BBC's august world affairs editor, recalls getting on the wrong side of former Prime Minister Harold Wilson as a junoir reporter.

'Harold Wilson grabbed John Simpson and punched him'

After attempting to spring a question on him as departed from a train, the PM took offence and refused to answer and instead roughly grabbed the young Simpson, punched him in the stomach and serenely walked away.

Firefighters stage school 'rescue'

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

Firefighters performed a rescue demonstration following a mock car crash at a St Helens school.

School rescue: Firefighters demonstrate entering a crashed car

Sixth formers at Cowley International College were given a Suddenly From Nowhere presentation to educate them on the dangers of drink driving, distractions and not wearing seatbelts.

Two of the students acted as casualties who were freed from a car during a simulated rescue in the grounds of the Hard Lane school.

Media students from the college also filmed the demonstration for a production on road safety.

The event was organized as part of Brake Road Safety Week, which is aimed at encouraging people to "look out for each other" on the roads.

Local firefighters rescue more people from road collisions than house fires each year.

Firefighter Kirsty Hornby, from Eccleston Community Fire Station, said: "Events like this are very important in educating young people who are at the age where they may be taking their driving test or thinking about getting a car for the first time."

Andrew Potter, of Cowley International College, said: "As recent tragedies have sadly reminded us, road safety is a year-round challenge for every single road user.

"The hard-hitting demonstration brought home the reality of how lives can be destroyed within seconds as the result of a road collision," he added.

Lancashire Day allows us the opportunity to declare that we are proud to be Lancastrians. The Lancashire Day proclamation will be read out by town criers throughout the county on Thursday 27th November. Lancashire Day commemorates the day in 1295 when Lancashire sent its first representatives to Parliament by King Edward I of England to attend what later became known as The Model Parliament.

Help us raise awareness of #LancashireDay across the country by joining in with our #WhereLifeFeelsGood campaign by sharing your favourite 'feelgood' photos of Lancashire. The campaign will run throughout the month until Sunday 30 November and will show just how Lancashire makes us all 'feelgood', through our gallery of photographs, see www.visitlancashire.com/whats-on/happ-lancashire-day for more information.

ROAD TEST: SMART FORTWO PRIME 90

Everything new except concept

By Matt Kimberley
newsroom@lancspublications.co.uk
@StHelensRep

THE smallest Smart just got a whole lot smarter but you'd better be prepared to pay for it.

Everything here is new except the concept.

This is Daimler's vision for a super-small city car that makes urban driving – not to mention parking – as easy as it gets before you have to ditch a pair of wheels.

It's exactly the same length, a gnat's wing lower but a little over 10cm wider, which means the two seats can be set up directly side by side.

The engine is at the back, and it's there that you'll find the driven wheels, too.

It's all gone techno on the spec sheet, with bold colour combinations inside and out, as well as a big new media interface screen, which, controlled by touch, can be linked to a hefty hi-fi system from JBL.

With the stubbiest nose ever attached to a car, the ForTwo is a bit pug-like. But since pugs are cool, that's fine.

Smart has gone as far as it can down the fashion route, lining up two-tone paint schemes, vibrant fabric-covered dashboards and seats, and a selection of brave alloy wheel choices. It's no shrinking violet, despite looking like it's been tumble dried on too hot a setting.

As long as the things you need to store inside it aren't too big, you'll be fine.

The boot is pretty small but is more practical than a Toyota iQ's, while luggage nets on the bulkhead, pockets on the backs of the seats, useful door pockets and even a pull-out compartment beneath the centre console give you lots of options to store, err, small things.

Cables fall short of stopping Mossley

Prescot Cables 1
Mossley 2

Prescot Cables got off to a flyer but ultimately lost out in this engrossing encounter.

Cables' Neil Price had a good chance but blasted wide from 18 yards.

However, Mossley created the next goal-scoring opportunity, going close from a corner ball.

As the first-half progressed, Cables became more and more dangerous, creating four gilt-edged chances in a row - all without finding the back of the net.

Mossley began the second half with purpose, scoring in the opening minute.

A long ball to the far post was knocked across the face of the goal by Matthews and Robinson was waiting to score from point blank range.

Cables responded with Jack Phillips cutting in from the right and passing inside to Whitehall who shot wide of the far post.

On 55 minutes Cables forced a corner which Prince took playing the ball to Bootham on the edge of the box whose shot was blocked by the Mossley defence.

Mossley made their first change Matty Purcell replacing Lewis Nuttall who had had a fine game for Mossley.

Cables keeper Tom Quinn came out of his penalty area to deal with a long ball and kicked it out for a throw in.

From the throw in Quinn held the cross and cleared the danger. On 71 minutes Mossley made their second change Marie replacing Barrow and Cables their first James Gardner replacing Sam Corlett.

With time running out Cables made their second change, Callum Gardener replacing Neil Prince. Cables were awarded a free kick just outside the Mossley penalty area but Gardners shot was blocked.

Prescot Cables: Quinn, Griffiths, Ryan, McCulloch, O'Reilly, Evans, Phillips, Prince, Whitehall, Corlett, Bootham. Substitutes: C Gardener, J Gardner, Dodd, Golding, Gibson.

Mossley: Farrimond, Barrow, Bennett, Cross, Granite, McConigle, Hevingham, Nuttall, Robinson. Keogh, Matthews.

Alnwick Town 4
St Helens Town 5 (AET)

St Helens Town advanced to the third round of the FA Vase for the first time since 2010 with a nail biting extra time win in Northumberland on Saturday afternoon.

The visitors clearly weren't affected by the 200-mile trip, taking the lead on the 12th through Chad Whyte.

Their lead was short-lived, though, as Alnwick's Brad McClelland levelling for the home side.

Whyte restored St Helens' lead before skipper Andy Gillespie extended Town's advantage.

Alnwick's comeback was sparked by McClelland with Tony Brown latching on to a stray backpass.

The visitors' response was again swift as Bell collected a through ball on the edge of the Alnwick box and stuck an early thunder bolt of an effort.

Brown again levelled for Alnwick to take the tie into extra time.

There was to be controversy when Town were awarded a penalty after a clumsy challenge on Gillespie ony for the referee to reverse his deicision after consulting with his assistant.

The game went into extra time and the teams seemed evenly matched but as the additional half hour wore on it was the visitors who took more and more control of the game and it was no surprise when they netted what turned out to be the winner with seven minutes of the contest remaining courtesy of courtesy of the persistence of Gareth Grant.

Anselmians 31
Liverpool St Helens 33

Liverpool St Helens pulled off an amazing win last Saturday at Anselmians to retain their unbeaten record and set up a cracker of an encounter this week when the only other unbeaten side, Altrincham Kersal visit Moss Lane.

After being well in command at 26-7 through tries from Ian Stanley (2) John Pape and Phil Kearns they went behind 31-25 as the home side ran in three tries in the second half.

With time rapidly running out new signing Andrew Rawsthorne grabbed the crucial try which, with a Greg Smith conversion, saw them home.

John Pape find a way through as Liverpool St Helens maintain their fine form

West Park 21
Sefton 16

A scrappy game, not helped by some ineffective tackling especially by the home side, resulted in a poor spectacle , albeit earning league points for both sides.

Sefton opened the scoring within five minutes of the start, converting a long range penalty awarded for an apparent infringement at the first scrum. West Park continued to press and looked the more dangerous when in possession, and fielding a relieving kick on the opponents 25 metre line, winger Chris Fortune beat several players as he scythed through the defensive line to score an excellent try which full back Matt Savage converted.

Within minutes another good move by the Park's backs saw winger Fortune repeat his earlier feat as he finished off in fine style from a flowing move initiated by Savage, who once again converted the try.

The visitor's increasing forward power started to give their backs more ball, and a good passing movement across the back line saw speedy winger Clarkson cross at the corner for a fine try which failed to be converted.

This somewhat lacklustre contest continued into the second half, the visitor's forwards remaining dominant, especially after Park lost hooker Tom Williams to injury,forcing further re-organisation in the their powerful pack.

The home side's backs however always appeared to have the edge when in possession, and after second row Lewis Harris was adjudged to have been held up over the try line, the visitors were penalised for an infringement at the scrum which saw skipper Rob Morley take a quick tap penalty and score himself near the posts, Savage adding the conversion to give West Park some breathing space.

Flanker Patrick Loughnane was adjudged to be man of the match, and others will need to match his tackling and work rate next week.

TALKING SPORT
With JOHN YATES

A global problem for local cricket

I would seriously recommend officials of all our local cricket clubs to read an article which appeared in The Telegraph at the weekend under the banner headline: No Money, Dwindling Interest and a Bleak Future. How English Cricket Finds Itself in a Battle for Survival.

It revolves around the state of grass-roots cricket and sets alarm bells ringing by revealing the number of people playing the sport aged 14 to 65 dropped from 908,000 in 2013 to 844,000 last summer.

This doesn't surprise me as a person who for the past 50 odd years has been involved in my local cricket club as a player, secretary, chairman and now one the trustees.

I've seen this state of affairs coming for some considerable time with more youngsters happy to tap away on a computer in the bedroom of their home rather than enjoy healthy outdoor activities - and cricket isn't the only sport suffering.

Many cricket clubs are also finding it hard to make ends meet financially - and some are over-stretching their budget by hiring a professional player in the hope of progressing through the divisions of their league.

It works in some cases but not all and I know of clubs who are now regretting shelling out cash for a quality overseas player, not to mention paying for his air fare and finding accommodation for the summer months.

It is becoming a ticklish problem and if clubs don't address it some will find the battle for survival a difficult one as The Telegraph, quite rightly, suggests.

It makes sobering reading for all of who love the game of cricket and want to see it continue to flourish at grass-roots level..

'Clubs who don't address this many struggle to survive'

Saints fans wanting a good book to read over the Christmas period need look no further than Peter Harvey's autobiography, The Redhead with Fire in His Boots.

Costing £14.99 and available from all good book sellers, as well as the Saints' Superstore, it tells the story of a former West Park Grammar School boy who played both codes of rugby in the 1950s and 1960s and was member of the 1966 St Helens side which beat neighbours Wigan at Wembley and then went on to claim the Championship crown.

Running side-by-side to Peter's story is the training necessary to become a teacher and subsequently head teacher and those people who helped him along the journey.

It is also a unique view of social history from coalmine to classroom - 1940 to the present.

They are joined fellow youngsters Jack Ashworth and Matty Fleming.

Jammer in line for world prize

Saints great James Graham (pictured) has been nominated for the most prestigious individual prize in world rugby league.

Graham, who left Saints for the NRL with the Canterbury Bulldogs, is joined on the shortlist for the Golden Boot award by union-bound compatriot Sam Burgess, Australian duo Greg Inglis and Johnathan Thurston, and Kiwi pair Shaun Johnson and Jesse Bromwich.

Burgess and eventual winner Thurston were also among the six nominees last year.

The same 13-man panel that chose Thurston will again vote for the winner and the World XIII, which will both be revealed in next month's Rugby League World, out on Friday, December 19.

The panel is assembled from both sides of the world, and includes representatives from Australia, England, France and New Zealand.

Among them is former Golden Boot winner Garry Schofield and ex-Great Britain coach Brian Noble.

Richards joins Saints mission

Craig Richards has joined the Saints as Rugby League Coach Development Officer for Saints.

His role is to provide a targeted support programme to the area's coaches to ensure the talent development systems of our Community Clubs continue to bear fruit, Craig joins after working for GB Taekwondo as part of their Olympic programme to mentor and improve coaching.

"I'm originally from Yorkshire and played at Bradford, Oldham and finished at Hunslet."

Craig said. "I've gained a lot of experience in what coaches want and need to ensure they continue to attract and produce talented youngsters to our game."

PAUL WELLENS EXCLUSIVE

WELLENS: I'LL RETIRE WHEN I'M READY...

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

Paul Wellens admits that the thought of going out at the top DID cross his mind following Saints' pulsating Grand Final victory over Wigan.

But the evergreen veteran, Super League's record appearance-holder, says the prospect of Saints facing such an "exciting challenge" in 2015 persuaded him to sign on the dotted line this week for another 12-month deal.

Not only will Saints have two trophies to defend next year, they are also set to face South Sydney in the World Club Challenge at Langtree Park.

Wellens, 34, said: "I can't lie - the thought of going out at the top did cross my mind. But, after taking a few weeks to let things settle down, it was soon quite clear to me that I wanted another year.

"I'm not sure if this will be my last season though - I don't want to put any extra pressure on myself. I've probably looked at each of the last three seasons as being potentially my last.

"Thankfully I've got a good working relationship with everyone at Saints and I want to experience those winning moments again - ones like we created this year."

Despite being club captain, Wellens, who has won two World Club Challenges, five Super League titles and five Challenge Cups in his 16-year Saints career, admits he didn't initially expect to play such a huge part in Saints' success this year.

"I think I came off the bench in each of the first eight games," he said.

"Initially, I wasn't involved as much as I wanted to be. But, given the injury situation, I had to play most of the games after that and I was happy with my form."

Wellens, who has switched from full-back in recent years to accommodate Jonny Lomax, is already eyeing a future career in coaching after being part of the England coaching set-up during the recent Four Nations series.

But he's not ready to hang up his boots just yet.

He said: "I will be doing a little bit of coaching with Saints this year. I'm sure I'll be spending some time with Jonny Lomax, who is still quite new to full-back.

"Coaching is definitely something I would like to go into in the future. The experience I got with England in Australia was fantastic - it was just a shame that we came so near but yet so far.

"But, from a purely personal perspective, the opportunity to coach elite players was an invaluable experience for me."

Meanwhile, Saints legend Paul Sculthorpe this week backed his former teammate to set an unbeatable Super League appearance record.

He said: "Wello is the ultimate professional in everything he does. That's why he has been able to play at such a consistently high level for such a long period of time. For me, he is still one of the first names on Saints' teamsheet.

"I don't think his Super League record will ever be beaten. The way the game is going now, everyone's getting bigger, stronger and faster - which means injuries are perhaps more likely.

"People may say he's not as quick as he used to be - but it is his speed of thought on the field that is so important to the team.

"When I played alongside him, knowing that he was behind me was always very comforting - he always contributes in both defence and attack."

Paul Wellens(inset with March Percival) has penned a 12-month deal to stay at Saints for another season

'We won't win anything unless we work hard'

TURN FROM BACK PAGE

"Hopefully Saints will also get a full season out of Luke Walsh - who looks like an outstanding player - and they will have a genuine number six in Travis Burns too.

"Luke will be responsible for bossing the team around the field, which should allow Travis to play a bit more relaxed.

"Travis has a bit of aggression to him too, which I like, and I think they will work well together - they've played together in Australia before and will know each other's games inside out."

Club captain Paul Wellens, who signed a new one-year deal this week, has also backed Saints' class of 2015 to be successful. But he warned that a repeat of this season's trophy double will only be achieved if the players put in the hard yards again in pre-season training.

He said: "I think we're looking really strong for next year. Travis Burns looks like a great addition and Atelea Vea will give us some strike in both attack and defence.

"Travis is obviously good friends with Luke Walsh from their Penrith days so they should complement each other really well. Hopefully those two will provide lots of opportunities for our young outside backs.

"Winning two trophies was fantastic this year - especially given the injury problems we suffered, which meant we had a number of key players playing out of position.

"But the important thing for us to do now is to get everyone's feet back on the ground following our Grand Final success. We won't win anything unless we re-focus and work hard."

Sculthorpe tips Mark Percival as the next Super League Star

EXCLUSIVE

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

Saints legend Paul Sculthorpe has tipped young centre Mark Percival to emerge as a Super League star in 2015.

Percival has impressed in the red vee since making his debut against Leeds last year, but Sculthorpe believes the best is yet to come from the 20-year-old.

He also told how Saints' young players, in particular, would not only benefit from being another year older and wiser - but from the experience of winning trophies in 2014.

He said: "I think the Saints squad looks good for next season.

They had a lot of young players in the squad this year who will all be 12 months older and more experienced.

"They have also now sampled what winning things is all about.

"Players like Greg Richards and Mark Percival - who I think could be a star of Super League next year - will only get better.
